General Comments

Kenyon is known as one of the 25 "New Ivies" and "Hot Colleges" (Kaplan/Newsweek), a "hidden gem" (The New York Times), and "The World's Most Beautiful College" (Forbes.com). If you saw Shaka Smart lead VCU to the Final Four, watched Ted (Josh Radnor) in "How I Met Your Mother," read Seabiscuit, Unbroken, Ragtime, or The March, follow Calvin and Hobbes or Zits, tuned in to John Green, consumed Newman's Own salad dressing, memorized the names of U.S. Presidents and Supreme Court Chief Justices, or have read The Kenyon Review, then you know Kenyon. Known as the college for aspiring writers, we are also among the nation's leaders for pursuing PhDs in the sciences, winning Fulbright Fellowships and going into the Peace Corps and Teach for America. Kenyon students find academic excellence and intellectual rigor in an atmosphere of collaboration on a stunning residential campus--a global village with 84% out-of-state enrollment boasting students from 49 states and more than 40 countries.
